The Facts About Breast Cancer

- Monthly breast self-exams, yearly clinical exams and annual mammography are all keys to early detection of breast cancer. Visit komen.org/bse for an online breast self-examination instructional tool. The Web site provides breast self-exam instruction through video animation, audio clips and written directions in both English and Spanish.
- Although these statistics are encouraging, an estimated 182,460 new cases of breast cancer will be diagnosed in American women in 2009 alone
- Breast cancer is the most common type of cancer among women today
